

1. Artificial Intelligence

- This can be embedded in any field. If I get sick AI may be the one taking care of me, they may diagnose my disease more accurately for they can access and calculate much more data. Artificial intelligence can also affect my life through suggestions. For example, if the weather forecast says it rains, the AI may advise me to bring an umbrella. Mundane but impactful effects.

2. Refrigerated transport truck

- If this idea is expounded, it would mean work efficiency. You can plan ahead because such information is being fed to you.

3. Corporate offices

- Soon, I will graduate in God's plan and be an employee, a comfortable work office would surely boost my motivation.

4. Smart City

- Philippines is far from having a fully-fledged smart city.

5. Self-Driving Car

- I firmly believe that instead of investing to cars, people should patronize public transportation like what Japan did.
